

PRODUCTION ANIMAL INTERNSHIP

A CAREER OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME!

The Apiam Animal Health Production Animal Internship Program is an initiative targeted towards recently graduated veterinarians with a strong interest in production animal medicine and consultancy.

This 24-month structured program offers you the chance to work in Australia's leading production animal veterinary businesses in the disciplines of dairy, feedlot, swine, poultry and genetics.

Our aim is to provide production animal knowledge, skills and the competencies required to be successful in individual and herd level veterinary medicine.

We are ideally looking for capable and motivated veterinarians with a minimum of 12 months experience, who wish to join our extensive team of highly qualified vets and consultants.

Exceptional new graduates will also be considered.

Rotations in 6 areas across the Apiam Network (Dairy, Small Animals, Genetics, Poultry, Feedlot & Swine)

YEAR 2

Placement in your area of interest and an 8 week research project

PROGRAM COMMENCES FEBRUARY 2019
